NATION-WIDE DRIVE ON TAX DODGERS TO START SOON

WASHINGTON, November 20.—(By the United Press)—A nation-wide drive against tax dodgers is about to be started by the government, it was learned at the Internal Revenue Bureau today.

Warrants of distraint, attaching the property of tax delinquents, are being prepared and will be issued about December 1. The government hopes to secure millions of dollars in back taxes by this drastic move.

Commissioner of Internal Revenue Blair's recent action in restricting the amount of time allowed for inspection of 1923 tax payment lists was the first step toward getting the drive under way.

These lists were used in preparing audits and put the warrants in shape for issuance. With only 10 days to get everything set for the drive, Blair ordered the inspection of the lists restricted so that collectors would not be hampered in their preparations.

Makes Some People Insensible to Pain

COLUMBUS, O., November 20.—(By the United Press)—It is possible that an insane person of certain type may become so insensible to pain as to use such a method of suicide as may have caused the death of Mrs. Sheatsley, Dr. William H. Pritchard, superintendent of the State Hospital for the Insane, told the United Press today.

Dr. Pritchard recalled the well-authenticated story of the case of a woman of Indian descent, a religious fanatic, who can walk barefoot on beds of up-turned spikes; who prance upon bed of coals in unceasing religious ceremonies and emerge unharmed.

Soon after the tragedy was discovered, Clarence Sheatsley, the young son, who first discovered the body of his mother in the furnace, but failed to tell other members of the family, told officials that a bottle of acid was missing from the medicine cabinet in the bathroom. The disappearance of the acid, Coroner Murphy has said strengthened the suicide theory. The piece of glass, it is believed may be the acid bottle melted down by the intense heat.

COLUMBUS, O., November 20.—(By the United Press)—Insensible to pain because of a strange religious fanaticism which had unbalanced her mind and lured her toward self destruction by her husband's eloquent description of heaven, Mrs. Addie Sheatsley crept in upon the red hot coals of the Lutheran parsonage furnace and burned to death.

This, according to her husband, the Rev. C. V. Sheatsley, is the solution of the how famous furnace mystery which came into being last Monday night when the pastor found his wife's remains smoldering in the furnace frebox.

From his experience as a missionary in India, where it is the custom for Hindu women to cast themselves upon the burning funeral pyres of their husbands, the minister believes that it would not have been physically impossible for his wife to enter the miniature inferno.

"Those familiar with violent insanity tell me," he said, "that certain forms, especially those resulting from religious fanaticism, can leave the body totally insensible to pain. I do not question that this is what happened in this case."

GOOD counsel is better than a great army. And the good counsel you'll find among the Classified Ads will take care of your army of wants and needs.

It so happens that the treasury department permitted the public to look at returns for the year 1923 though these returns were made under the terms of the law of previous years in which publication was strictly forbidden. If Congress intended that the public should be allowed to gaze at the 1923 returns did Congress not mean also that all returns for previous years extending indeed back to the very beginning of the income tax law's operation were to be thrown open? One Congress can not bind another to secrecy and old records are frequently made public long after the law originally requiring secrecy is considered out of date.

RECORD OF SALES REACHED ON NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, November 20.—(By the United Press)—With the stock market apparently just reaching its full stride, the New York Stock Exchange entered its 44th day of record-breaking achievements after establishing three new records in yesterday's hectic session.

Sales yesterday exceeded all previous records in the history of the Exchange, with a total of 2,358,871 shares. The second record to be smashed was in the number of issues traded in, which was 500. The third new record was in the average which reached 102.49 for Industrial and Railroad stocks. Buying orders poured in from all parts of the country with railroad issues the favorite, but with an exceptionally wide range of other stocks in heavy demand by the "outside" public.

Despite this great avalanche of buying, profit taking got the upper hand later in the day and railroad stocks closed with a net loss. Industrial stocks were down 32. The entire market closing the day with a net loss of 27.

It was during the first hours after the opening that the high prices were established when a flood of overnight orders to "buy the market," put the tickets hopelessly behind, at one time falling 28 minutes behind the actual trading, making it impossible for brokers to use the tickers as their guide to do business.

"This morning she is in a semi-comatose condition. Her heart action is only fair."

Blames Famous Hope Diamond For Series of Misfortunes

BOSTON, MASS., November 20.—(By the United Press)—The curse of the famous Hope diamond is again upon May Yule, actress and one time possessor of the diamond, now the wife of Captain John A. Smuts, who is in a serious condition at a hospital here, suffering from a gunshot wound in the chest.

Mrs. Smuts called a physician and police last night, when, after hearing a shot, found her husband lying on the floor of an adjoining dining room of their apartment, bleeding from a bullet wound.

Police found a note signed by Smuts which read: "I intend to shoot myself because I have been unkind to my wife."

At the hospital, however, Smuts, a cousin to General Jan Smuts of South Africa, said he had accidentally shot himself while cleaning his revolver.

Smuts is the actress' third husband. It was while she was Lady Hope as the wife of Lord Francis Hope, she was in possession of the diamond which is supposed to bring ill luck on all who wear it.

It was this sinister influence which made her run away from Lord Hope and marry Major Putnam Strong, she claims. Misfortune followed, however, and she divorced him and was driven to singing in cabarets on the Barbary Coast in San Francisco.

Later she married Captain Smuts and blames the Hope diamond for this latest tragedy in her life.

Abandon Plan To Hold Post Until Ousted

LOS ANGELES, CALIF., November 20.—(By the Associated Press)—The waters of the Los Angeles aqueduct diverted into Owens Lake last Sunday by a raiding party of Owens Valley ranchers who seized and opened the Alabama waste gates north of Lone Pine, Inyo county, were turned back into their course by the raiding party early today, said a dispatch to the Los Angeles Times.

The ranchers' decision to abandon their announced determination to hold the gates open until state troops were sent or Los Angeles came to their terms was reached at a conference of leaders held at Keeler, on the shores of Owens Lake, during the night. It was reached, said the Times dispatch, as a direct result of the resolution adopted last Tuesday by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce Association promising its cooperation in promoting a settlement of the water rights feud, providing the gates were closed.

The control gates were opened when the ranchers decided to bring to a decision their long standing dispute with Los Angeles over diversion for city use of water the ranchers maintained was needed for irrigation.

Approximately 100 of the ranchers overpowered city employees at the waste gates, drove them from the site, and turned the water into Owens Lake.

They made elaborate preparations for a long siege. The city did not seek the use of force in ejecting them, however, but instead applied to courts for writs of evictions.

Despite the lack of armed aggressiveness on either side, the situation was deemed by observers as needing but little more to precipitate that section of California into civil warfare.

Governor Friend W. Richardson withstood repeated appeals for state soldiers to dislodge the ranchers. Jess Hession, district attorney of Inyo county, was in Sacramento today to urge the governor again to send troops to prevent bloodshed when the ranchers decided to withdraw.

Happy Women Never Smoke, Says Noted Austrian Author

VIENNA, November 20.—(By the Associated Press)—Happy and satisfied women almost never smoke, in the opinion of Dr. R. Hofstadter, gynecologist, who some time ago created a stir by his assertion that smoking alters women's faces, making them look more masculine than feminine.

"Women who smoke much, have almost invariably contracted the habit at a time when they were especially unhappy," he says in his book "The Smoking Woman."

"Women regard smoking as something smart," he continues, "smoking affords them an opportunity to execute a surprisingly large number of playful and therefore graceful movements and positions. It is a significant fact that the smoking woman is much more concerned about motions than the man, for whom the accompanying movements, such as the play of features, bear the character of automatic, unconscious movements."

THE GUMPS—GOOD-BY, SORROW; HELLO, JOY!

FIRE WIPES OUT MOULTON STORE IN LUCASVILLE

$25,000 Loss Only Partially Covered By Insurance; Hard Work Saves Adjacent Property

Salt thrown on the tar paper roof of a small frame shed nearly a destroyed stable and storage building and the fact that little or no wind was stirring at the time played a big part in the saving of the village of Lucasville from a fire that would have wiped out the greater portion of the village into Wednesday night when the fire demon completely razed the store of The C. J. Moulton company and storage shed and badly damaged the old Moulton homestead south of the big store building.

Damage from the flames is estimated at $25,000 with the loss only partially covered by insurance. Definite figures as to damage and insurance can only be obtained on the return of Arthur Moulton and John Moulton, members of the firm who were in Columbus and were notified of the fire this morning by Attorney Frank Moulton. Both are expected home late today.

Overheated Furnace
Fire supposed to have started from an overheated furnace in the basement of the two story frame store building or, a defective flue from the furnace gained rapid headway through the heavily stocked store and within a short time the building was doomed and fire fighters turned their attention to adjacent property. Good work on the part of the fire fighters saved the Moulton home from destruction and prevented the spread of flames to the two story frame storage building for Ford machines and parts.

The loss in the store is expected to be much greater than first expected due to the fact that the firm had already on hand hundreds of dollars worth of Christmas and holiday goods. Over $300 worth of winter clothing was placed in the general store building only yesterday. Within the last few days the coal bins in the basement of the store had been filled.

Safe Removed
Included in the general stock of the store was furniture, farm implements, tractor, roofing material, and other things. The large iron safe in the main store building was removed from among the shelves of the building this morning but all efforts to open it proved futile. The combination could be worked but the throwing of water on the hot iron of the safe had caused a "swelling" that made the big doors stick. Residents this morning who gathered around the scene of the fire were all of the same opinion that had the flames taken a hold on the two story frame garage structure the fire would have quickly spread until it wiped out all the buildings in the north end of the village. A one story frame structure adjoins the rear of the garage building and this small structure with a tar paper roof was within a few feet of a destroyed storage building. The tar paper roof of the small building was covered with salt and chemicals were poured against the second story part of the garage structure preventing flames from communicating to this building. Automobiles and parts were removed from the garage building when it appeared for a time that it would be included in the path of the flames.

Young Women Discover Fire
The fire was discovered about 9:45 o'clock by Misses Bertha Van Housen and Mildred Wolf, young women of the village who were enroute home. In passing the store building the noticed flames shooting from the north side of the building just about where the fire was located. They spread the alarm by calling out residents near the store and when the Valley township chemical fire truck was driven to the scene of the fire its going aroused many other residents and within a short time a good sized crowd was on hand to form bucket brigades. Earl Moulton had driven away from the alley at the south side of the store less than a half hour before the fire was discovered. He was in the Moulton farm when notified of the fire.

From the start the firemen were handicapped by the limited source of water. Wells nearby were pressed into service by the bucket brigade and the township fire fighting apparatus, and the fire fighters worked with might and main in their battle with the flames.

The flames spread rapidly. Not only was the store building enveloped in a short time, but the barn and smaller outbuildings were soon blazing, each a separate source of danger to other and larger buildings nearby.

From the burning store building the flames leaped across an alley in the rear and quickly enveloped a frame storage building used to house farm implements, tar paper roofing, wire fencing, tractors and salt. Three cows were taken from this building before the flames had reached their part of the building. One tractor was among the farm machinery damaged in the leveling of this building.

Leaping across the alley on the south and then an empty lot flames ignited the north side of the Moulton homestead. It was with considerable difficulty that the bucket brigade and chemical users put out the fire before the house was destroyed. The north side of it was badly damaged. Many willing hands assisted in removing the furniture from the Moulton home but considerable damage resulted when furniture was thrown from windows on the first and second floors.

Mrs. C. S. Moulton and daughter Miss Mabel Moulton who live in the Moulton homestead were at the John Moulton home to spend the night while John Moulton was in Columbus.

Site, A Historic Place
The site of the fire, on the west side of the Scioto Trail, is a historic one. When flames spread, for a short time, to the old Moulton homestead, they threatened the destruction of what is probably the oldest house in the village.

Business, A Large One
The Moulton store was a large one and did a splendid business giving employment to five people. In addition to the store business, the company operated a garage in the village, dealing in Fords, Fordsons, and Lincolns.

The site of the original Moulton store was the empty lot that is now the north yard of the Moulton homestead. The store building destroyed last night was erected about thirty years ago to replace the original store structure.

Attorney Frank Moulton and Earl Moulton who were about the scene of the fire this morning could not say what action would be taken on rebuilding. Arrival home of Arthur and John Moulton is awaited before any such announcement for the future is made. The C. J. Moulton Co., includes members of the Moulton family the active management of the general store business being in the hands of Arthur Moulton.

Need of Purchasing Christmas Seals Is Stressed Before Members of Exchange Club

The sale of the Christmas health seals was the subject of the meeting of the Exchange Club Wednesday evening at the Arditz, when E. W. Baird, of the Ohio Public Health Association, was the principal speaker. The Exchange Club successfully promoted the sale of seals in Scioto county last year, and they are hoping for even greater results this year. Dr. Harry F. Kapp is in charge of the campaign.

The general sale of stamps will open December 1, but it is expected that a large number of the seals will be sold to business houses previous to that time for use on mail beginning December 1.

Mr. Baird illustrated his address with pictures, showing the fight being waged against tuberculosis in Ohio. Speaking of the origin of the Christmas Seal movement, Mr. Baird said:

"Edna Holboell, postal clerk in a small town in Denmark, on Christmas eve, 1908, conceived the idea of using penny stickers at Christmas time to help tuberculous children. Holboell saw countless stamps passing through his hands. He knew of the need in his country for sanatoriums for tuberculous children. He appreciated the opportunity to help humanity."

"This big, benevolent Nordic, a personification of Santa Claus in appearance, is Santa Claus in reality also for he has given to the world one of the greatest gifts—Health. His penny stickers went big in Denmark."

"Jacob Riis wrote an article telling of the success of the seals in Denmark—how they were starting sanatoriums for children taken from mothers who had tuberculosis and rescuing them from the same disease. Emily Blissett, of Wilmington, Delaware, took up the idea, first in this country in 1907. That year, through her efforts, $1,000 was raised to pay on a site of the first sanatorium in Delaware. There were 300,000 seals sold the first year in this country.

"Last year more than 400 million seals were sold in this country. From 1908 until 1915 the Christmas seal was sponsored by the American Red Cross, but the seal has always been sold for the support of anti-tuberculosis work. The first seals in this country bore the emblem of the Red Cross, but in 1919 the Red Cross withdrew its emblem and all connections with the seal sale. The seal movement is organized and sponsored entirely by the national, state, and local tuberculosis associations to whom the proceeds of the sale go—80 per cent remains in the community where the seals are sold, 10 per cent goes to the state and 10 per cent to the national association, for carrying on educational and research work."

Compromise Plan
For Government Operations
Of Muscle Shoals Plant
Washington, Nov. 20.—(By the A. P.)—Sensitization for the Ford bill for Muscle Shoals, are seeking the aid of western senators for a compromise government plan of operation for the properties to be submitted when Congress convenes in December.
At the same time, Secretary Weeks is taking steps to ascertain the scope of his authority to contract for the temporary disposition of power generated at the plant, should Congress fail to make final disposition of the properties prior to the completion of the Wilson Dam next July.
Should Congress fail to dispose of the question, and should the Secretary himself be without authority to lease the output of the plants, they would be idle.
Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, has submitted a government operation plan, and leading advocates of the Ford bill, convinced that Mr. Ford's withdrawal from the competition, are engaged in efforts to put together a plan having many features of the Norris proposal but considerably amended.
Secretary Weeks has asked Major General Hull, judge advocate general of the army, to furnish him with an opinion as to his powers in handling the properties. If that opinion should hold that he has authority to make temporary contracts for power which he has in mind, he probably will ask Congress to confer the authority on him if it should appear that Muscle Shoals legislation is not to be completed during the short session.
While there may be some difficulty in finding companies willing to make short term leases for all the power developed, nearly power companies are known to be prepared to take a very large part of it.
Secretary Weeks conferred today with Elton H. Hooker, New York, who has been at work for some time on a proposal for the creation of a gigantic chemical and industrial plant at Muscle Shoals. The conference was described as one of a series which have been held by the two during the past year on various aspects of the Hooker offer for the properties.
It was said that Mr. Hooker hoped to have his proposal in shape for submission to Congress at the forthcoming session.
CURTIS LOOMS AS LEADER OF SENATE
Washington, Nov. 20.—(By the A. P.)—Senator Curtis, Kansas, assistant Republican floor leader, is regarded today as the outstanding candidate for the Senate Republican leadership, made vacant by the death of Senator Lodge.
Final decision concerning the post is expected to be reached at a party conference Nov. 28, and meanwhile word is said to have been received in Senate circles that President Coolidge will maintain a hands off policy, with no preference to indicate as among the candidates mentioned all of whom have recently called at the White House.
Senator Warren, Wyoming, would succeed to the post under the time honored custom of the party honoring with the leadership the member with the longest service record, but he is said to be unwilling to accept the task except for the sake of party harmony.
Two other candidates have been mentioned, Senator Wadsworth, New York, and Senator Watson, Indiana. Senator Wadsworth has not taken an active part in the campaign in his behalf and is understood to be in the hands of his friends. Senator Watson says he is not a candidate, although his name has been frequently brought forward.
Senator Warren continues to maintain silence on the question, but it is understood he favors Senator Curtis for the leadership and is willing to step aside in favor of the Kansas Senator.
A contest between Senators Curtis and Wadsworth, it was pointed out in Senate circles today, would represent a struggle between the west and the east.
If Senator Warren waives the position, it was said, it will be the first time in the history of the Republican party that a senior member has not been made leader of the Senate forces. Senator Warren is 86 years old and first came to the Senate in 1890, although his continuous service dates from 1895.
BRITISH RULER IN SUICIDE SHOT DOWN
Cairo, Egypt, Nov. 20.—Gunmen using bombs and automatic pistols, attacked the streets here today Major General Sir Lee Stack, Sirdar of the Egyptian army, in whose person is combined the highest civil and military positions in the Sudan.
Three bullets hit General Stack as he was being driven in an automobile from the war ministry down the Suvaria, near el-Aini. The spot chosen for the assassins for their attack was within a few yards of the place where two years ago two British subjects, Messrs. Brown and Robson, were murdered.
At the residence where the Sirdar was taken it was found that he had received a serious wound in the abdomen and wounds in one hand and one foot. The bullets in the abdomen lodged under the lung, but tonight after an operation for transfusion of blood the surgeons expressed hope for the recovery of the Sirdar.
The rain of bullets directed at the Sirdar's car, seemingly from every angle, also wounded, but not seriously, the Sirdar's aide, his chauffeur and a policeman. The chauffeur, an Australian, although wounded twice, remained at the wheel of the car and drove rapidly to the residence.
All of the assassins escaped. According to the chauffeur there were at least eight men in the attacking party, all of them dressed as "effendis." One wore a false beard.
HOLT DROVE DEATH CAR SAYS WITNESS AT TRIAL
CLEVELAND, Nov. 20.—Evidence that Albert (Red) Holt, was driving the automobile in which Michael Hahnol, Shaker Heights patrolman, was fatally shot while taking Holt and Bruno (Joe) Prymas to a station house after arresting the pair for driving without lights was produced today at the trial of Prymas, who, with Holt, is charged with first degree murder.
Testimony that Holt was driving the car from which Hahnol was thrown after he had been shot was given at Prymas' trial by Patrolman Frank Dietrich, who was painting boulevard "stop" signs with Hahnol when Holt and Prymas drove up without lights.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—(By the A. P.)—Dr. Glascock, alleged leader in the $2,000,000 mail robbery at Round, Ill., last June and more than $1,200,000 of the recovered loot of the holdup were rival attractions today in the federal court of Judge Cliffe, where William Fahey, former postal inspector, James Murray Chicago politician, and Walter McComb are on trial for the robbery. Glascock and Fahey have pleaded guilty.
While Glascock calmly recited the details of the holdup and the long preparations made for it, more than $1,000,000 in currency and bonds that have been recovered were carried into the court room under heavy guard, a government exhibit.
Glascock took about two hours and a half to tell all he knew about the robbery and then for a similar period cleverly warded off all attempts of defense attorneys to confuse him. He linked both Fahey and Murray directly with the robbery, detailing meetings

On cross examination he frankly admitted serving 16 months in a Missouri prison when convicted of burglary and 21 months in an Oklahoma prison for assault with intent to kill. He said he would not consider holding up a train for only $100,000, but "for a million or a million and a half" might take the proposition under advisement. This explanation was made in reply to a question as to why he did not try to stage a holdup after Fahey, according to testimony, had told of a $100,000 payroll shipment going from Chicago to Georgetown, Ill.

DENIES HE DESERTED PULPIT TO FOLLOW HIGH FINANCE PLOT
Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 20.—Details of the experience of a former Baptist preacher-evangelist, who took the quietude of his study and his exalted pulpit for more absorbing attractions of high finance, resulting in landing him as a defendant in the criminal action charging conspiracy and the mails, defrauding several thousand dollars, were laid before the jury today in the eighth day of the Hawkins mail fraud case in federal court.
In a vibrant voice, William M. Webb, Dallas, Texas, former Baptist preacher and evangelist, giving his age as 64, one of the 16 defendants standing trial, stoutly denied having had any part in the alleged conspiracy of Morton S. Hawkins, fugitive head of the Hawkins Mortgage company, and his business associates, when examined by Hon. R. C. Merritt, Dallas, his attorney. Under a severe cross examination by Hon. Elliott United States district attorney, and under questions put to him by Judge Ferdinand A. Coker, presiding in the case, Webb showed signs of uneasiness in retreating details of complicity in the alleged conspiracy.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

DEAR DOLLY—Will you please answer in the paper as soon as possible and tell me where the Y. W. C. A. is located in Columbus, Ohio, and in Cincinnati, Ohio.

Y. Z. C.

The Young Women's Christian Association is located at 20 East Eighth street in Cincinnati and at 64 South Fourth street, Columbus.

Dear Dolly—I am a highly respected married woman and I love my husband dearly and he loves me, but I am not happy because I have a sister who has gone astray. She is good looking and she is weak and easily led, and has been treading the downward path for the past few years. She was raised up to be a good girl, and she has no one to blame but herself for the way she has turned out. Dolly I beg so hard to brace up and live the right kind of a life and I truly thought she had turned over a new leaf, but she is still in the wrong. The rest of the family worried at first, but now they have taken the attitude that they don't care what she does. I have grieved until I am a nervous wreck. I can't sleep at night for worrying about her and wondering what she will do next. I get up with a headache and sometimes I almost cry my eyes out. I have tried to overcome this worrying but I can't. My husband does not know what I am worrying about, and I don't know whether I should tell him or not. Do you think he would think any less of me because my sister is not what she ought to be? He knows I am a good woman, but if he should turn against me it would bring my life to an end. Dolly I trust anything that can be done to get my sister to do right, and to make me stop worrying. Please give any helpful advice that you can.

WORRIED READER.

Your sister's wrong-doing is serious of course, but after all, it is her affair, because she will have to pay the price in suffering sooner or later. Some day she will find her chosen goal and realize she is no longer attractive. Then her remorse will come. Life has very effective methods by which it calls its straying souls to time. If your sister knows your attitude, you have done all you can for her now and you will have to let her work out her life as she sees fit. Later when sorrow comes, show the wisdom of your heart and do all you can for her. She will need you then as she never needed you before I believe it would be a good plan to tell your husband. He will help you see the mistake of worrying and making yourself miserable, when by so doing you do not help a living soul. He may also help you to work out some plan whereby you can get your sister to return to the straight and narrow path. He can at least help you bear your sorrow, if nothing else.

Dear Dolly—I have a question that has been bothering me for some time and I would like for you to answer it for me. I am a great movie fan and I often wonder what the movie stars do with their old clothes. They really aren't old, but I don't suppose they wear the same dress in different pictures and that makes them buy a great many clothes, and consequently spend a lot of money. Please tell me what they do with their discarded wardrobe.

MICHELLE FANNETTE.

My idea of nothing to worry about is that movie actresses do with their old clothes. They haven't informed me what they do with them, but I imagine they have various ways of disposing of their gowns. For instance, they might give them to proteges or employees, or they might have relatives who could use them. However since style is the chief attribute of a gown which photograph in the movies, an expensive gown is often made over several times before it is discarded.

Dear Dolly—I am twenty-three years of age and typical blonde. Everyone tells me I am a stunning looking, and I think so myself. Dolly I am after advice. I am engaged to a young man of 25. We have been engaged for six months and the other night when he called he asked me to marry him at once, run off to Cattedsburg or some place and have the knot tied quietly, but I can't see a marriage like that. I want to wait until spring and my mother wants me to wait until spring, and I would like your advice on the matter. When I marry I want to do it in the right way, and I am not ready to do it on the spur of the moment.

ENGAGED GIRL.

If I wanted to wait until spring, I would wait, and that would settle the matter. Your fiancé's hurry would seem unreasonable to the average person. There are people, however, who cannot bear to wait for anything; it is their nature to want a thing so earnestly that they lack patience and reason. Try to see his point of view, but at the same time make him see yours. If you give in to him now you will have to keep doing it the balance of your life.

Young Foreigner—Your desire to improve your deportment to conform to the rules of your adopted country are most commendable. You will find very helpful books on the subject of etiquette at the library. If you wish to have one for constant reference I would advise you to buy one. The local book stores have a good assortment and will be glad to recommend to you the one that will best fit your needs.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts-Barlow

A RIDDLE WITHOUT A BODY

"What's that? What's that?" called the Fat Man who had been dozing in Mrs. John's rocking chair.

"Dear me," said the Riddle Lady. "I'm sorry the Fat Man of Bombay isn't here to hear the next riddle. I do think he might guess it."

"What's that? What's that?" called the Fat Man who had been dozing in Mrs. John's rocking chair on the front porch of the house that Jack-Built.

"I was just saying," said the Riddle Lady, "that you should be here to guess my next riddle."

"The Fat Man straightened his turban and fixed his sash and knocked the ashes out of his long pipe. Then he waddled down to the orchard where the Twine and Daddy Gander and all the Mother Goose people were waiting.

"All right! I'm here now," said the Fat Man sitting down cross-legged on the grass.

"This is the riddle," said the Riddle Lady.

"Teeka-a-boo! I see you! Please do not mind if I stare; When I see a hole I must poke my head through it."

"My neck is so weak that it wiggles about. And my head is tied on with a string. And I haven't a body, which is, without doubt, A surprisingly singular thing."

"Hold on! Hold on!" cried the Fat Man. "No fair using hard words. What does that mean queer?" said the Riddle Lady.

"Well, why didn't you say so?" said the Fat Man.

"It wouldn't rhyme properly if I did," said the Riddle Lady.

"My goodness! Is this a riddle party or a grammar class?" demanded Old Lady Banberry Cross. "Why don't you go on?"

"I forget where I was, now," said the Riddle Lady looking over her paper. "Oh, yes, here it is. Third verse:

"I keep you as snug as a bug in a rug. I fasten your clothes and your coat. The first part of my name (now you'll have to think hard). Has something to do with a goat."

"Fat Folk and sneezes and clothes wringers fight. Are the things I most shrinkingly dread. If I'm careless and don't hold with all of my might. Pop! I'm ruined, for off goes my head."

"It sounds like the Queen in Wonderland," said Solomon Grundy. "Just exactly. She was always 'offing with people's heads.'"

"Well," said the Fat Man of Bombay. "I've thought of everything from lumps to lumps. I don't know what it is."

"Hoorn!" cried Nick. "I know! It's a button!"

"How in the world could I ever guess that?" cried the Fat Man. "I don't wear buttons. I haven't such a thing about me!"

"Did you sneeze them off?" asked Nancy. And everybody laughed so loud and so long that nobody noticed what Nick's prize was—and I forgot to ask. (To Be Continued.)

SAYS

Right now I believe the coat problem is the most interesting of all subjects to womankind. With the advent of this crisp cold, bracing winter weather a new coat is a necessity. Now that this cold spell has proved to you that you can't put off choosing your coat any longer, I must urge you to see The Fashion's collection. Imagine a coat in rich Penny Brown with tiered sleeves, embroidered shoulders, and deep band collar and wide cuffs of brown fox! Quite original, eh!

Picture a coat in rosewood fawnskin, with huge melon cuffs and band collar of Hudson Seal. Or one in cranberry shade much befurred by leopard. These are but a few of the distinctive and unusual coats you'll see at The Fashion.

Ohio Corn Crop
26 Bu. Per Acre
COLUMBUS, O., November 20.—
(By the United Press).—The Ohio corn crop will yield 26 bushels to the acre, to C. J. West of the State-Federal crop reporting service said today.
This is an increase of one bushel over the October estimate. West gives favorable weather, as the reason for brightening corn prospects in the state.
Corn reserves on Ohio farms are estimated at 3.8 per cent, slightly lower than last year. The quality of the crop is very poor as is shown by the estimate of only 58 per cent merchantable quality, twenty points lower than last year.
Tobacco yields are low. The estimate is 720 pounds. Yield of buckwheat is estimated at 16 bushels per acre with the quality high.

Employment Situation
Improves, Survey Shows
Everything points to a slow but steady improvement in industry, says
the National Industrial Conference Board, New York City. The latest survey of wages, hours and employment in 23 leading manufacturing industries, shows a definite upward tendency in the number employed and in the average of hours of work per wage earner.
The rapid curtailment of industrial and business operations in the spring together with the cautious hand-to-mouth buying for immediate needs through the summer has apparently decreased inventories to that point where public needs for consumption are producing better conditions.
Employment from July to August stood at 71 per cent of the number employed in June, 1920, but, as the board points out, comparisons of present conditions with those of a boom period are often misleading and the present conditions reflect a fair course of normal progress. Employment is at least 5 per cent higher than it was in 1914.
Further evidence of improvement is shown in an increase of nearly one-half hour in the average week worked per wage earner and of more than an hour in the average hours of plant operation from July to August.

Government

The newspapers who are defendants in the government suits will naturally reply that the Treasury Department itself furnished the 1923 returns to the public which, of course will mitigate the offense. The whole thing however is not a prosecution for punishment but a test. Indictments will be brought by Grand Jurors in at least six instances and then the trials will be expedited with the hope of getting a clear ruling from the lower courts which might exonerate the newspapers from blame and the case would be appealed by the Government to the Supreme Court of the United States, for final decision.

Meanwhile the newspapers which have looked into the legal aspects of the controversy thoroughly know that to publish returns for years preceding 1923 means a greater risk and liability to punishment than for the alleged offense committed by scores of newspapers in printing the returns made available recently by the Treasury Department itself. It is not likely that any returns will be published for the years preceding 1923 even though there is grave doubt among some government lawyers that a prosecution even for that could stick.

Should the government win its suits and the newspaper publishers be found guilty of violating the statutes, the chances are that the government itself would move to abandon any punishment for the

SHE TRIED OTHERS, JO-VEX SUCCEEDED

Out of gratitude, delighted with the remarkable results, Mrs. Wu, Gregory, 7240 Classon Ave., Cleveland, recently wrote us: "For the benefit of the millions of sufferers of Psoriasis, I feel it my duty to publicly state that Jo-Vex has restored my mouth and gums to healthy condition after the failure of all other preparations which I had tried."

Fifty per cent of all adults are afflicted with Psoriasis, but its victims don't know they have it. Why take a chance with your health and teeth when Jo-Vex is so easy to use and so inexpensive. You take no risk for Jo-Vex sold on a money-back guarantee by druggists everywhere, especially Fisher & Streich and Warner Bros.

few that are selected would hardly be punished and scores of other newspapers be permitted to escape any penalty. The government is not primarily interested in punishing anybody but in finding out what Congress really meant. Congress itself did not know when it passed the law for it put in all sorts of contradictory provisions but the courts are constantly engaged in telling the country the meaning of contradictory legislation and the income tax laws are no exception to the rule. The litigation may be long drawn out and another set of returns available before the decision is reached in which case the government may be compelled to seek a temporary injunction to restrain newspapers from further publishing returns until the cases now being started are settled.

Glass

Mrs. Sheatsley's case.

Authorities today accepted the minister's explanation "for what it is worth" in the light of future developments and continued to pursue evidence in support of their belief that Mrs. Sheatsley was murdered. John R. King, county prosecutor, now devoting all his time to the case, left on an early train for Canton to question the furnace victim's aged mother.

Rev. Sheatsley gave the first intimation of his theory of his wife's death in a sermon to King yesterday, declaring he was convinced she had committed suicide.

Later, discussing the case with the United Press, Rev. Sheatsley told how his wife had been deeply impressed by the sermon he had delivered last Sunday night on "Paradise Begotten." Before dawn the next morning, the day of her death, Mrs. Sheatsley told her 14-year-old daughter, Elizabeth:

"Your father will never preach a better sermon than he did last night."

Elizabeth had come into her mother's room after hearing what she believed were her mother's thoughts.

The sermon, Rev. Sheatsley said, was largely a description of heaven, in which the minister gave as his opinion that heaven is the Eden of Eden restored. "Through Jesus, the second Adam."

Asked for further details of his fanaticism theory, Rev. Sheatsley said his wife was not with him in India and that she knew nothing except what he had told her, of the weird tricks of the Hindu women.

"I do not believe that my wife could have been familiar with the customs of native India," he said. "I believe her act resulted from a sudden seizure of insanity."

The pastor and his four children today were in Paris, O., where a part of his wife's remains are being interred in the family burial plot.

Meanwhile the state chemist here was examining a segment of Mrs. Sheatsley's asphyxiated in an effort to determine whether she was breathing when her head went in over the glowing coals.

Detectives were still at work in Bexley with orders from Prosecutor King not to pass up the least shadow of a clue. The suddenness of the tragedy and the denials by the minister in the case are shrouded, has left the exclusive residential district where the minister and his family are the best known residents, with a bad case of nerves.

Rumors of a solution of the mystery fly about the streets and the campus of Capital University, where Rev. Sheatsley is a faculty member, with lightning rapidity. Several an hour passes but that some new "report" is circulated. Newspapers in Columbus are swamped with inquiries about the "latest confession" in the Sheatsley case."

Found Relief in Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Always Recommends It.

Bridgeport, Connecticut. "I was completely run-down, had headaches, dizzy, faint, and other troubles women often have. As I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before, my husband said to take it again. I have now taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Purifier, the Liver Pills, and six boxes of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets. I am feeling very good now and shall continue taking them for a while. I have been telling my cousin about the medicine and she wants to take it, too. Always recommend it." Mrs. Henry C. Smith, R. F. D. No. 3, Box 6, Bridgeport, Conn.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine for such conditions. It has in many cases relieved those symptoms by removing the cause of them. Mrs. Smith's experience is but one of many.

In a recent country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, over 121,000 replies were received, and 98 per cent reported they were benefited by its use.

It was learned here today that the name of Judge J. F. Mauck of Allipolis, member of the Court of Appeals for this district, has been added to the list of aspirants for appointment as Judge of the United States District Court at Columbus, vacated by the resignation of Judge John F. Judge Mauck has displayed marked ability during his service on the Common Pleas and appellate court benches, his many friends are active in his behalf, pointing out that his wide experience on the bench has splendidly fitted him for the important Federal post and insist that President Coolidge is bound to give serious consideration to the name of the Allipolis jurist in making the appointment.

Railroads Do Not Require Urgent Legislative Action, Say Executives

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—(By the A. P.)—No urgent legislative action by Congress with respect to the railroads, declared the Association of Railway Executives at the annual meeting here today.

In an extensive "declaration of policy" for the coming year, the association held the railroad problems should be met as economic questions and not as political issues; rate making by legislative action would be destructive; amendments to the transportation act must be kept from political doctors; adequate revenues should be assured the carriers to meet needs of service and expansion; more educational publicity should be developed by the roads themselves, and the roads are determined to keep transportation facilities in support of their belief that the American Railway association was elected chairman of the executive committee to succeed Hal Holden, president of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad. Mr. Holden retired after two years' service because of pressure of other duties. Samuel Reed, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad took the chair temporarily while the association passed a resolution expressing appreciation of Mr. Holden's administration.

Carries State Policies

W. L. Alsup, president of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad was added to the present membership of the executive committee which was continued for the coming year.

The carriers defined their position and policy for 1925 as follows:

1.—That all railroad problems as they arise should be met with and solved as economic questions, which they are, and not as political issues, which they are not.

2.—That there is no condition existing today which calls for any urgent legislative action by Congress with respect to the railroads either as to rates, labor relationship or valuation.

3.—That railroad freight rate and passenger fare adjustments should be left to the duly constituted government regulating body where they will receive full and fair hearing and an adequate economic analysis, and not be made the subject of direct legislative action. Rate making by legislative action would be destructive.

Must Preserve Credit

4.—That amendments to the transportation act which may be demonstrated to be necessary by experience under normal business conditions should be made only after a fair and judicial consideration of all pertinent economic factors, and not as the result of political agitation or of political pressure upon congress.

5.—That a continuation of adequate transportation facilities and service carries as an inevitable corollary, the necessity for adequate revenue to be earned and retained in order that railroad credit may be restored and re-established in the confidence of investors and that ample additions, improvements and repairs may be made at reasonable financial costs.

6.—That the carriers should seek in every legitimate way to enlighten the public on all phases of the complex transportation industry by the dissemination of authoritative information and should foster and aid the tendency, recently observed to remove railroad questions from the arena of politics to the field of economic analysis so that the private management of railroads may continue a program of increasingly adequate and efficient service under full and proper regulation, and may confine the efforts there to making to serve faithfully the public interest.

Believe In Public

7.—And that looking forward to continued confidence to the fairness of the American people, the railroads are determined to continue their policies of expansion to provide adequate transportation for the increasing commerce of the country and to strive in every way to bring about greater efficiency in operation and a progressive reduction in cost.

BANK ROBBED OF $30,000; SIX BANDITS ESCAPE IN GUN FIGHT

FARMINGTON, Mich., Nov. 20.—Six Italians held up employees of the Farmington State Bank today, took $30,000 in cash and escaped after a running battle with townspeople.

The bandits drove to the bank in a powerful motor car and five entered with drawn revolvers. As the bandits started to leave, several men sitting in a barber shop across the street opened fire with shot guns. No one was hit.

Plan To Organize Steel Mill Men

ED PASO, Tex., Nov. 20.—(By the A. P.)—Spokesmen for organized labor in England and Germany detailed to the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor today, labor's contribution to the restoration of economic stability of Europe in the trying period of post war reconstruction.

Peter Grassman, vice president of the German Federation of Trade Unions, speaking for the workers of his country, pledged support of the Dawes plan for reparations adjustments.

In the execution of the plan lies Germany's most promising pathway to the peace and lasting peace he said. He denounced communism which he characterized as a "mental disease resultant of the terrible years of the war."

Extolls MacDonald

C. T. Cramp, chairman of the executive committee of the British labor party, told the convention the foreign policy of Ramsey MacDonald the labor premier retired last month in the general elections, eventually would be approved as one of Britain's most brilliant and yet most simple contributions to the cause of labor.

Sincerely, simplicity and sympathy, he said were the factors in that policy. "The labor party has lost a few seats in parliament, but it has nevertheless laid the foundation for its future success," he said.

"We shall go on in Great Britain, striving to promote peace and eliminate the causes which make for war. Now, in the years of peace, is the time to prepare for the lasting peace."

May Organize Mill Men

A short session of the convention today rejected a proposal authorizing various craft unions to relinquish jurisdiction over their members in the steel industry as a step toward organization of a single unit embracing the industry. Another section of the report pledged the support of the federation in a campaign to organize steel workers under the craft organization plan.

A resolution submitted jointly by more than a score of organizations would establish fifty-one aides of the secretary of war from the ranks of labor to cooperate with the government in recruiting candidates for citizens military training camps.

PRECEDENT MAY SEAT STECK OVER BROOKHART. SENATOR SMOOT HOLDS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Senator Smoot, Republican, Utah, said today that if the Senate committee on privileges and elections adhered to the precedent established in the contest which seated Senator Kink, Democrat, Utah, it would decide in favor of Daniel P. Steck, Democrat, who is contesting the election of Senator Brookhart, Republican, Iowa.

The same principle, Senator Smoot said, is involved in the Iowa contest that came up in the Utah contest. The committee decided in the latter case, he said, that the question to consider was the intent of the voters rather than the law. A number of Steck's ballots, he added, were thrown out in Iowa because the voters had marked arrows on the ballots, and the official count gave the election to Brookhart by several hundred votes.

HIS PRIVILEGE

LIVERPOOL.—A man who was taking pot shots with a revolver at the picture of a former sweetheart on his bureau was arrested for intoxication. When he told in court the story of how mercilessly the girl had betrayed him, he was released without punishment. Women in the audience took up a collection before he left the court.

TURKS SMOKE PIPES

CONSTANTINOPLE.—The sale of pipes in Constantinople alone has increased 300 per cent in the last four years, according to recent estimates. The pipe has become the most popular form of smoking almost over night. There seems to be no explanation of the fact.

DRINK VARNISH

VIENNA.—A low-priced varnish, which has proved unsatisfactory to buyers, is now being thrown onto the market in the form of an extremely palatable liquor, police investigation has revealed. Steps were taken to stop the sale of the strange beverage until it was found to be free from harm.

MAX PETITION DONAHAY TO ORDER INVESTIGATION OF ASHLAND CO. SHOOTING

Columbus, Nov. 20.—Reports reaching the governor's office today that Ashland county citizens were proper in asking him to order a special grand jury investigation of the shooting of John Dalton, Newberry, N. Y., chemist near Ashland, by city and county officials, Oct. 20, were received with doubt as to the effectiveness of such an investigation at this time.

The governor's office has been indirectly advised that those charged with the shooting were permitted to testify without waiving immunity before the regular grand jury which made an investigation without returning indictments. If such were the case, it was stated authoritatively at the executive office, the accused officials would be immune now from prosecution and a special grand jury investigation conducted by the attorney general would be futile.

Dr. Frederick Blankner, The Distinguished Specialist, Will Remain in Room No. 7 Until Thursday, Nov. 27th.

Just because so many people appreciate the services of Dr. Frederick Blankner, in return Dr. Blankner to evidence his gratitude extends his visit one week longer until Thursday, Nov. 27th, Room No. 7, Manhattan Hotel.

For several months past now, people have been making little journeys to room No. 7, to meet the doctor face to face in a heart to heart talk concerning all kinds of chronic ailments and just because his patients are so well satisfied with his services is the reason why they praise him to others afflicted. Service, honesty and square dealing will win the confidence of people in any community and that is the reason why Dr. Blankner has established such an enviable reputation all over the State of Ohio.

You can't measure Dr. Blankner by the experience you have had with other physicians because Dr. Blankner is in a class all by himself, hence you can only measure Dr. Blankner by what those who have had experience with Dr. Blankner say. Dr. Blankner is skilled in his line of work, that of treating complicated chronic diseases and extracting teeth without pain and when you are sick or if you have diseased teeth to extract you surely want service, and that is just what you will receive if you make a Little Journey to room No. 7 Manhattan Hotel, until Thursday, Nov. 27th. Office hrs. 9 A. M. to 8 P. M. Sunday, 9 to 12 M. Phone service.

"Now how did you know I had one?"
"I saw it on your arm in a photograph of you that Mr. Kent has—a snapshot—and a good one."

"Where's your watch?"
"Busted!"
"I knew it!" Zizi nodded her black head in satisfaction. "I saw from the picture it was one of those cheap things—forgive me if I am rude—but this is important."
"My watch important?"
"Yes. Now tell me when you did wear it, did it always keep the right time?"
"Never!"
"Then—think now—then when you stood on the bridge that night with Mr. Kent, and you told him it was seven o'clock by your watch—was it?"
"No—I guess not—for when I got home I was awful late, and mother gave me a wiggling. But, yes, it must have been right, too, for when I said it was seven, Mr. Kent looked at his watch, and agreed."
"What do you mean agreed?"
"Why, he said, 'So it is, or 'Yes, seven, or something like that. What has my watch to do with it?'"
"Maybe a tip—maybe nothing at all. I say, Dolly, you know that old Gannon man, don't you?"

A Clear Complexion

RUDDY CHEEKS—STARKLING DYES—MOST WOMEN CAN HAVE.

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician.

Dr. F. M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients, mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, copying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, yellow look, call your pimples, coated tongue, headache, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets slightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit, 15c and 20c.—Advertisement.

Opponents of Blue Laws Are Dealt Hard Blow By Court

DATTON, O., November 20.—(By Associated Press)—Opponents of the blue laws, were dealt a severe blow yesterday afternoon when Judge

November 2.
Rulings now have been made on both amusements and merchandising on the Sabbath. Abe Jacobs, proprietor of a novelty store having previously been convicted of violating the law, and it was agreed by the anti-blue law forces that the only manner in which equality can be obtained is for some private citizen to file affidavit against the proprietors of business permitted to operate on Sunday, since the police orders do not include every business not coming within the legal restrictions as "works of necessity and charity."

Judge Powell allowed the defendants three days to file motions for new trials. In trying the pool room cases, Judge Powell refused to allow testimony showing discrimination, ruling that the question of discrimination was not one for him to decide.

Yizi had already met that vivacious young person, and since seeing the photograph of her in Kent's room had desired another talk with her.

The two girls seated themselves comfortably in the swing, and Zizi came to the point at once.

"You want to help Mrs. Raynor if you can, don't you, Dolly?" she asked.

"Oh, yes, indeed—what can I do? I'm

The Affair at Flower Acres

© 1924 by N.E.A. Service Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Douglas Raynor was found shot through the heart in the early evening on the floor of the sun room of Flower Acres, his long Island home. Standing over the dead man, pistol in hand, is Malcolm Finley, former sweetheart of Raynor's wife, Nancy. Eva Turner, Raynor's nurse, stands by the light switch. Then Nancy, her brother, Orville Kent; Ezra Goddard, friend of Finley; Miss Matilda, Raynor's sister, and others, enter the room. Pennington, a celebrated detective, and Zizi, his girl assistant, are called to take the case out of the hands of Detective Doherty. "Any jury would exonerate Nancy Raynor if she had shot her husband," Wise tells Zizi, "but I want to prove that she didn't."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"That would be about as bad, wouldn't it?" Wise smiled ruefully. "And so you're going to make up a criminal to put in their place?"

"No, he's already made up—he's the man who wore the rubbers."

"And we're going to the Falls to look for the rubbers?"

"We are."

"Because that's the hiding place Mrs. Raynor chose for the morphia bottles, you think the rubber man chose the same hiding place?"

"Yes, oh, Queen."

"Well—take it from me, you won't find them there."

Wise stopped stock still. "Then there's no use going on."

"Oh, come along—I might be mistaken, of course, I never am, but there has to be a first time."

"You're an impertinent young thing. But, Zizi, I've got to find those rubbers!"

"All right, we'll find 'em. You see—wait a minute, Finley, was the criminal one of those people—or not?"

"Yes—I think it was."

"Then it was either a man, or a woman wearing a man's rubbers. Now, he or she—must have hidden the rubbers, because he couldn't destroy them."

You can't burn rubbers—they make such a smell—and you can't throw them down a waste pipe. I think they're hidden—yes, to be sure, to hide, you see—and if they are, we ought to find them. So, all right, the Falls first, and after that all other possible places."

But the most careful examination of the Falls failed to disclose a discarded pair of rubbers.

Malcolm Finley approached them as they stood there.

"A curious case, Mr. Finley," Wise said, in the colloquial tone of one who addresses a fellow enthusiast.

"Where are your clues leading you now, Mr. Wise?" Finley asked.

"Nowhere, for the reason that I have few or no clues. Except for the new overalls, I can find nothing to call a clue."

"You call that one?"

"Most assuredly. If I can find those rubbers."

"You will convict somebody?" Finley looked alarmed.

"It may be so," Wise watched him closely, without seeming to do so.

"Then, Mr. Wise, give up your search. It is unnecessary. I will tell you what I'm going to tell the police later—I confess to the crime myself."

Wise restrained his smile.

"It is most interesting, Mr. Finley, how people love to give themselves up. It would seem that to confess to a crime is a positive pastime of late! If many more confess to this one, we shall have to arrest them in bunches. Why are you confessing to it, Mr. Finley?"

"You amusement is decidedly ill-timed, Mr. Wise. I cannot feel a solemn confession is an occasion for mirth."

"Yours is," and Zizi's uncontrollable dimples came into play as she openly grinned at Finley.

"You don't believe me?" Finley said, quite taken aback at the way his confession was received.

"I do not," Wise returned, "on the contrary you have convinced as your finger doubts I may have had as your

"All right, we'll find 'em. You see—wait a minute, Finley, was the criminal one of those people—or not?"

"Yes—I think it was."

You can't burn rubbers—they make such a smell—and you can't throw them down a waste pipe. I think they're hidden—yes, to be sure, to hide, you see—and if they are, we ought to find them. So, all right, the Falls first, and after that all other possible places."

But the most careful examination of the Falls failed to disclose a discarded pair of rubbers.

Malcolm Finley approached them as they stood there.

"A curious case, Mr. Finley," Wise said, in the colloquial tone of one who addresses a fellow enthusiast.

"Where are your clues leading you now, Mr. Wise?" Finley asked.

"Nowhere, for the reason that I have few or no clues. Except for the new overalls, I can find nothing to call a clue."

"You call that one?"

"Most assuredly. If I can find those rubbers."

"You will convict somebody?" Finley looked alarmed.

"It may be so," Wise watched him closely, without seeming to do so.

"Then, Mr. Wise, give up your search. It is unnecessary. I will tell you what I'm going to tell the police later—I confess to the crime myself."

Wise restrained his smile.

"It is most interesting, Mr. Finley, how people love to give themselves up. It would seem that to confess to a crime is a positive pastime of late! If many more confess to this one, we shall have to arrest them in bunches. Why are you confessing to it, Mr. Finley?"

"You amusement is decidedly ill-timed, Mr. Wise. I cannot feel a solemn confession is an occasion for mirth."

"Yours is," and Zizi's uncontrollable dimples came into play as she openly grinned at Finley.

"You don't believe me?" Finley said, quite taken aback at the way his confession was received.

"I do not," Wise returned, "on the contrary you have convinced as your finger doubts I may have had as your

"TURN 'EM LOOSE" IS P. H. S. CRY AGAINST IRONTON HI HERE SATURDAY

Erid Classic Will Attract Big Crowd

With Jimmy Sprague, speedy half-back, leading the P. H. S. team, the Erid classic will attract a big crowd to the football field Saturday afternoon at two o'clock before what is expected to be the heaviest crowd of the season. Ironton is expected to bring down several hundred fans and fanatics by auto and special traction car.

Cochran McCann is putting the locals through their paces every afternoon but is not working the team over for this one game for Ironton is not expected to present the strong team they had last season.

Cochran Davies always has a fighting eleven but it will take more than this to trim the Red and Blue warriors this season. Captain McCann and his crew are out to win the season with victories and do not expect to allow Ironton to put a blot on their splendid record.

Word from Ironton today was that Coach Davies may change his lineup for this one game. Both teams have had scouts present at past games. P. H. S.

Rise In Speculative Rail Bonds; Buying Embraces Wide Variety of Issues

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Resumption of the upward movement in low priced railroad shares was followed by a corresponding rise in semi-speculative issues. The cars' trading class was moderate, but buying embraced a wide variety of issues, including "Katy" adjustment 5's, Frisco				Income G's, Rock Island, Arkansas and Louisiana 4½'s, Seaboard adjustment 5's, Iowa Central 4's, St. Paul 4's of 1924 and New Haven conversion 4's, Dep'ts 4's. The steel class in Wilson and company reorganization plans enabled the corporation's bonds to extend their recent gains by				1 to 2 points. Mixed price changes prevailed in other parts of the list, the Sinclair Oil issues dropping a point each and Federal Light and Sound 7's 2½'s. Liberty bonds were irregular but United Kingdom 6½'s of 1917 reached a new 124 high at 100½.

GUARD AGAINST "FLU" WITH MUSTEROLE

Influenza, Grippe and Pneumonia usually start with a cold. The moment you get those warning aches, get busy with Musterole. Musterole is a counter-irritant that relieves congestion (which is what a cold really is) and stimulates circulation. It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister.

Just rub it on with your finger-tips first you will feel a warm tingling as the heating ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief.

Have Musterole handy for emergency use. It may prevent serious illness.

Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

RHEUMATISM PART OF SKELETON OF CHILD IS FOUND IN WASTE PAPER

LEAVES YOU FOREVER

So Says James H. Allen, Who Drove Out Rheumatic Poisons After Being Crippled for Years.

LANCASTER, O., November 20.—(By the Associated Press)—Another mysterious death, which may rival the finding of the cremated body of Mrs. Addie Sheats, wife of the Rev. C. V. Sheats, in the furnace of her home in Huxley, Columbus suburb, Monday evening, came to light here today with the finding of part of a skeleton of a child apparently about twelve years old, in a bale of waste paper, received by the U. S. Gypsum Company. The paper had been received in a shipment from Lancaster, Pa., to London, Ohio.

The bones consisted of a right shoulder blade and a rib still clinging to the tips of the fingers. City Health Officer C. H. Hamilton, who examined the bits of skeleton said the child probably had been dead about three months.

Dr. Hamilton said the bones had not come from an operation.

Emmanuel Friedman, of London, who shipped the paper to the Gypsum Company, said member 11, was unable to throw any light on how the bones probably got into the bale of waste paper, or where they may have come from. He said that he baled some paper himself which he buys from peddlers who serve the surrounding community and buys some already baled from various London business houses. The paper contained in the November 14 shipment, he said, had been accumulating since a boat last September 10.

FORGOTTEN TRADES

THE village smithy no longer stands "under a spreading chestnut tree"; the garage has taken its place; and the blacksmiths of today are so few that when one of them passes away it is a matter of comment. This is true in the case of James T. Harvey, who, though his shop was on West Forty-second street, New York, was known as "the village blacksmith of New York." He had in his day shed all the prize horses owned by Fifth Avenue society leaders.

But horse-shoeing is not the only picturesque occupation that has disappeared or is disappearing. In these days of machinery, few now make shoes by hand, although the "shoe-maker" is still applied to cobblers who only mend them. The country has no "cradle-maker," nor the town a cooper who makes barrels by hand, though the word still persists as a surname. These surnames offer a most convenient method of recalling forgotten trades. Who would guess that Thacker or Thackeray was the man who thatched the roof with straw; that Tyler was the one who tiled it, or Slater he who roofed with slate? A few other names, as Collier, the charcoal burner; Chandler, the candle maker; and Fuller, the cloth cleaner, will show how numerous were the ancient crafts. Blacksmith has no equivalent among English family names, unless it be the abbreviated Smith, though, in German, there is Klingensmith, the "clanging smith." But the horseshoer was a Farrier, dropped in our dictionaries but retained in the directories.

But with the passing of the old, new crafts are finding a place. Beside mechanics we now have mechanicians and besides undertakers, morticians. Modern life is more complex than that of the past and calls for specialists.

THE FLY IN THE OINTMENT

THE day after the election it was announced that the Amoskeag Mills, the greatest manufacturer of cotton goods in the country, were going to resume full operations at once, after a considerable period of idleness.

The mills have resumed, but to what extent is not stated. That omission is accentuated by the fact that resumption carried a ten percent cut in wages, which was not shouted from the housetops, like prospective resumption itself was.

Not even all this completes the story of the Amoskeag incident, for this week the trade papers carry the announcement that the Maine cotton mills have made a ten percent cut in the wages and the hint is that Amoskeag is considering a further reduction, because upon the new basis it and the Maine mills can not compete with southern factories.

It would be a foolish citizen, indeed, who would not welcome a strong and sure revival of industry, but the attempt to magnify indications of it for political purposes, even to the extent of deliberately concealing essential facts by no means helps to that end. Rather does it militate against it, because the deception is bound to become public and shake confidence, without which there can be no lasting, nor yet, increasing prosperity.

SHOULD HELP IN TWO WAYS

QUITE a number of encouraging oil developments were brought in by the Oklahoma fields within the week. These evidences of new sources of supply ought to be resultant of two effects, the allaying of the growing alarm that the production of gasoline was developing a strong trend towards exhaustion, and the accentuation of oil as the most desirable and feasible source from which to draw funds for the construction of improved roads, the need for which becomes more imperative every day.

A little thought given to the matter will develop the conviction that a gasoline tax offers the most feasible and just method of taxation for highways. It is the one great material that calls for smooth and permanent transportation. A tax thereon would be most equitable because the consumption of each gallon of gasoline marks the extent to which the road is used and worn. It would be the wisest of all taxes because none for whose benefit good roads are constructed would escape paying his portion of the burden thereof.

NEW YORK DAY-BY-DAY

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 — At Woods is in the return from England business. About every third week he lands from Southampton. He has taken on the loose and twaddling look of the habitual voyager. And there are rumors he is secretly practicing with a monocle.

To me Woods and George White are the most interesting of the Rialto producers. Each came from the East Side pavements. Woods is a rough and ready type with booming voice. He makes no effort at highbrowism, but is one of the shrewdest judges of box office hits in America.

No matter to whom he is speaking, he begins with "Now, listen, sweetheart—". Only "once" has he worn a dress suit and that was at an opening of a play of his in London. He is as shy as a school girl among those he does not know.

His jumps to England are always impulses of the moment. He has luggage in his office. On his last trip he finished dictating a letter, at nine. He "jawned," and with a sigh said: "I haven't seen dear, old peddlesome Albion in five weeks." And at 11 he was sailing for Southampton.

Young George White is a slim young fellow who began his career as a race track boy. His devotion to the ponies is the despair of friends, for he loses heavily. But he has the saving grace of humor to josh himself about his falling even in his own revue.

His dancing career began when he was a messenger boy and dropped in at an amateur night on the Bowery. He stopped the show. Then he made the rounds of Bowery cafes, doing his stuff for pitched nickels and dimes. Irving Berlin was then a singing waiter at "Nigger Mike" Saloon in Chinatown, and Berlin and White became fast friends. White no longer appears in his shadow. Yet, almost any night in the theatres of the theater he may be seen doing a syncopated shuffle. Stage folk say: "Once a hooper, always a hooper."

An average of 100 children a day were lost at Coney Island during the summer season. Restoring lost children to mothers is the big job for Coney police. There are so many sights to see that the child stands for a moment in wide-eyed wonder, the parents pass on and Zip! comes the lonely wail of the lost. All lost children are taken to a central station where experienced nurses calm them and soon have them laughing through tears. There is a room also presided over by doctors and nurses where hysterical mothers are taken.

New York's amazing and rapid building construction is one of the marvels of the town. From my window I see three block long buildings—one a 20-story hotel, another a 13-story office building and the third a 15-story apartment house building. Not one of these stood there three years ago. Three city blocks were razed at the door-step yet so quickly were they built up that few in the neighborhood realized what was going on until they saw the completed buildings. Another odd thing about it is that I can recall the appearance of only one building formerly in the three block strip. I don't recall the name of a single store or the type name of a business therein. Yet I saw and passed them several times a day.

I left my typewriter here and asked three people living in the same building that houses me to give the name and the nature of the business housed in a corner situated one block east and one north. The same result. Yet all passed these places hundreds of times.

Now we know, not only why Coolidge was victor overwhelmingly, but why he won at all. It was because his campaign slogan was "Coolidge or Chaos." We know that is so because Colonel George W. Harvey tells us it is. Harvey ought to know it because he coined the slogan himself. Before he evolved it he assured us also the Republican party was lying down, ready to take the licking it felt due it.

These are ticklish times for those wearing scratchy heavies.

Nice thing about applauding movies is you don't get an encore.

Doc Koko's KOLUM

To a Friend
Others have given you gifts worth the keeping.
All that I have is a song;
All that I have from the sowing and reaping,
Just a thin melody, 'till and leaping,
Brown from the dust where the twilight comes creeping;
Where you may wander along;
Where you stare in the winds where the open road gleams,
Made up of nothing but star dust and dreams.

Others have given you things to remember.
All that I have is a song;
Gray as the shadowy strong fields of November,
Dull as the glow of a slow-burning ember,
Thin as the first falling snow of December,
Only a wandering, lyrical wraith,
Made up of nothing but friendship and faith.

Unforgettable
He: "What do you consider man's greatest fault?"
She: "Being so scarce."

Call To Arms
May: "The photographers never do me justice."
Rex: "You want mercy, not justice, dear."

Quite So
Teacher: "Children, can any of you tell me what is the most dangerous part of an automobile?"
Tommy: "Yes, miss. I can; it's the driver."

Still Missing
Johnny: "Say, Paw, I can't get these rhythmic examples. Teacher said something about finding the great common divisor."
Paw (in deep disgust): "Great Scott! Haven't they found that thing yet? Why, they were hunting for it when I was a boy."

Precisely
"How would you classify a telephone girl? Is her's a business or a profession?"
Neither. It's a calling!—London Mail.

Needless Advice
"Men should not deceive their wives."
"Lord—they don't."—Florida Times Union.

He Knew
Teacher: (to John): "What comes in like a lion and goes out like a lamb?"
John: "The Landlord when father pays the rent."

George Took One Piece
"George," said his mother, "when Aunt Emma passes the cake, just take one piece."
George took one piece; then when Aunt Emma passed the cake again he took another piece and so on till he had six pieces.
"Well," said mother, "did you just take one piece of cake?"
"Yes, but mother, I might as well have taken six at one time and saved Aunt Emma a lot of trouble."

Coming Wizard of Finance
Mother: "I gave you a penny yesterday to be good, and today you are as bad as you can be."
Small Son: "Yes, I'm trying to show you that you got your money's worth yesterday."—Chicago Tribune.

It's always fun to go to a billiard contest just to see who has found time to excel as a billiardist. As long as there's a public dance, it's just as well that we cut out public dances.
